VIETNAM NATIONAL UNIVERSITY, HANOI
UNIVERSITY OF EDUCATION

MESSAGE FROM THE RECTOR

RECTOR, UNIVERSITY OF EDUCATION
Assoc. Prof. Dr. Nguyen Thi My Loc

We are moving into a new era – an era of information technology, knowledge economy, and global integration. The entire nation is working together towards industrialization and modernization with a view to turning Vietnam into a wealthy, strong, equitable, democratic and civilized nation.

In the context of a world filled with ample opportunities and challenges, an important mission that weighs on the shoulders of the educational sector – including the University of Education – Vietnam National University, Hanoi (VNU) is to educate a young, energetic, talented generation – those able to take advantage of opportunities, and overcome challenges to accumulate knowledge and develop the ability to decide the destiny of the whole nation.

With the mission of educating high-quality teachers, educational managers and educational scientists meeting regional and international standards, the University of Education, together with other VNU members, is implementing a new model to educate “educators for tomorrow” who excel in their professional knowledge and skills.

To achieve this noble mission, with the open model of training, the University has been establishing cooperations with prestigious institutions at home and abroad in an attempt to inherit and develop education in Vietnam in particular and the world in general.

Ten years’ development is not long for such a training institution, yet the present achievements recorded by the University of Education are attributed to the joint efforts and thinking of the university academic and general staff, special attention and instruction from the VNU’s Party and Presidential Board as well as the enthusiastic cooperation and assistance of universities and research institutes in and outside Vietnam.

Stepping into the chosen path with confidence, the University of Education will increasingly improve the quality of training, gradually achieving the noble mission through extensive collaborations with national and international educational institutions and organizations.

INTRODUCTION

On 21st December, 1999, the Faculty of Education (the predecessor of the University of Education) was officially founded under the Decision No. 1481/TCCB made by the President of Vietnam National University, Hanoi (VNU). The foundation of the Faculty marks the birth of a new model of training in the history of Vietnam's educational science - a progressive model in a high-quality, multi-disciplinary university.

Since then, the Faculty of Education has recorded impressive achievements, and have been awarded a number of merits: a third-class Labour Order from the State President, the Reward Flags and Certificates of Merit awarded by the Government, the Prime Minister and provincial committee presidents as well as from the President of Vietnam National University.

In recognition of and for the further development of the piloted model of training, the Government's Prime Minister signed the Decision No. 441/QĐ-TTg dated 4th April, 2009 on the foundation of the University of Education from the Faculty of Education, thus becoming one of VNU's six university members.

The University of Education is experimenting with two new models of educating secondary school teachers: 3 plus 1 and 4 plus 1. The 3 plus 1 model is designed for students who for the first three years follow basic study units at either the University of Natural Sciences or the University of Social Sciences and Humanities, and who for the last year are provided with pedagogical knowledge, skills and teaching practice at the University of Education, VNU. The 4 plus 1 model is for B.A./B.Sc holders registered with the University of Education for one year to be offered pedagogical knowledge, skills and teaching practice.

The University of Education has so far enrolled 2,800 full-time Bachelor students majoring in teacher education; 800 students enrolling in the Master program in educational management; nearly 300 students taking MA courses in theory and methodology of Mathematics Education, Physics Education, Chemistry Education, Biology Education, History Education, Literature and Linguistics Education; 85 students enrolling in the Ph.D program in educational management (17 students have successfully defended their theses at State level); 8 international MA programs with about 400 enrolled students and teacher education, professional development courses offered to around 1,000 teachers from schools, colleges, universities, and other institutions.

The University of Education is a member of Asia - Pacific Teacher Association, and Asia-Africa University of Education Network. It is also Vietnam's sole representative of the University of Cambridge International Examinations (UK) - a major provider of international qualifications for teachers

MISSION

The University of Education strives to become a higher education leader engaged in teacher education, graduate programs and research, which aims at educating students, teachers and educational leaders and managers on the basis of close collaborations and partnerships with schools, colleges, universities and other institutions nation-wide and world-wide with a view to facilitating knowledge sharing and meeting national and regional and international standards.

VISION

The University of Education strives to become a research institution providing courses and programs of national, regional and international standards.

VALIDITY

The University comprises a learning organization, in which every university member is willing to share knowledge and experiences, to whole-heartedly work for the common benefit, quality, effectiveness, and professionalism. The University is also committed to ensuring equity among university staff and students.

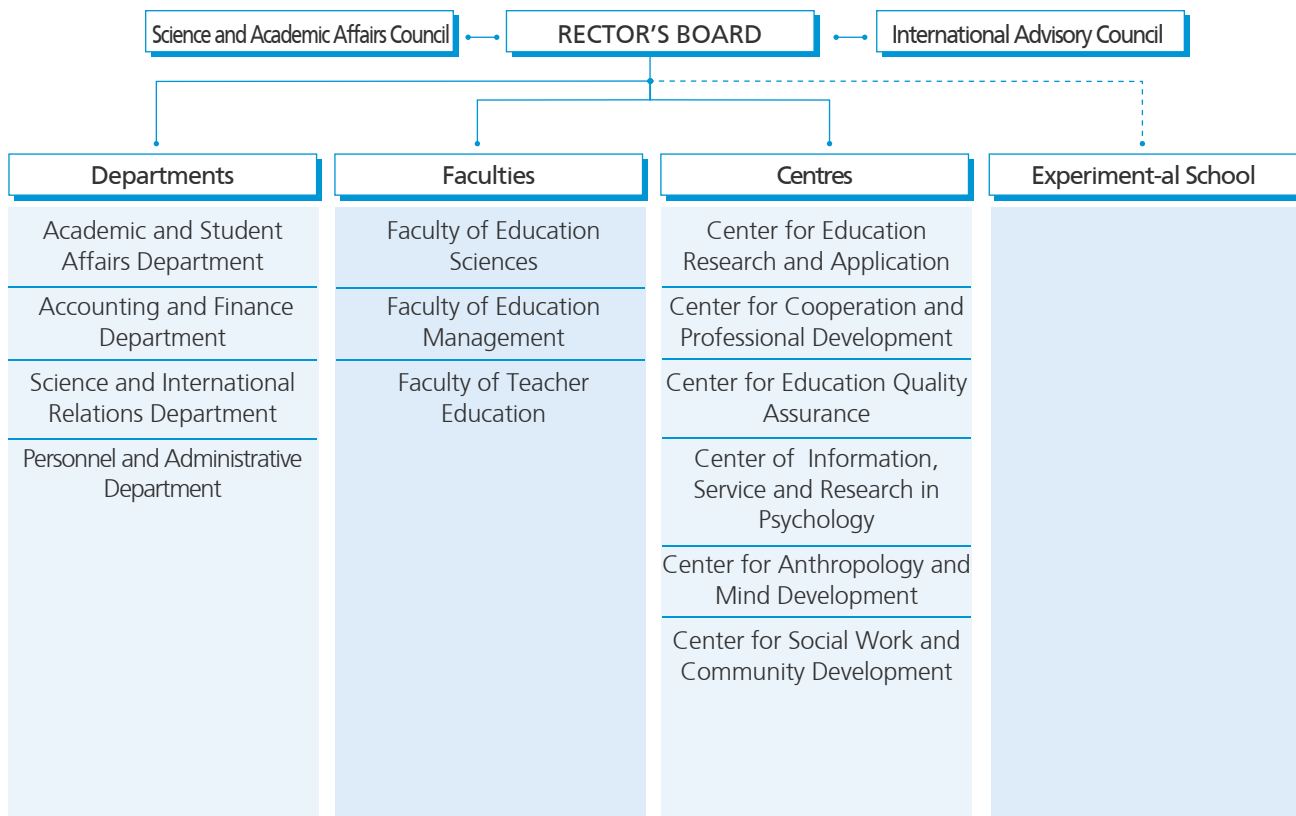

MAIN TASKS

- Offering undergraduate and graduate programs for students, teachers, and educational leaders and managers from schools (including vocational ones), colleges, universities and other educational institutions to create high-quality human resources of national, regional and international standards;
- Doing research on pedagogical sciences, educational management and educational sciences. Serving as an advisory body to the Party and the Government, and provinces on the strategic policies of and solutions to the development of education; closely combining training with research and scientific and technological service;
- Upgrading knowledge, managerial and pedagogical skills for teaching staff, educational managers and leaders from institutions of education and training and research;
- Co-operating with a large number of foreign institutions on training and research; exchanging and transferring technology.

FACULTY OF EDUCATION MANAGEMENT

THE FACULTY OF EDUCATION OF UNIVERSITY OF EDUCATION WAS ESTABLISHED IN ACCORDANCE WITH DECISION NO.2409/QĐ-TCCB DATED 6TH JULY, 2009 BY THE PRESIDENT OF VNU.

For the past ten years, with a contingent of prestigious professors, associate professors and doctors in the field, the Faculty has been offering programs and courses in education science and management, thus educating a large number of leaders, managers, and experts from many educational institutions. Up to 2009, the Faculty has run a variety of courses ranging from undergraduate to master and doctoral levels with 85 PhDs, 800 masters, and 792 bachelors having graduated already.

Training aside, scientific research is considered a constant task of the Faculty. New areas and results of research show the anticipation and integration of the development trend of the educational system. It is also a significant contribution to teaching, managing education from the grass-root to national level as well as to the oriented development of the national education system.

With the three new disciplines, the Faculty of Education will continue to take responsibility for high-quality research and teaching, hence satisfying growing demands for human resources via expansive programs, courses and disciplines. Simultaneously, the Faculty is committed to offering services to society, such as: advice on management and managerial psychology, training links, etc.

CENTER

FOR INFORMATION, SERVICE AND RESEARCH IN PSYCHOLOGY (CISRP)

THE CENTER OFFERS UNIQUE SERVICES IN WHICH THE DISCIPLINE OF PSYCHOLOGY IS APPLIED TO REAL-LIFE CONTEXTS AND PACKAGED IN SUCH WAYS THAT THESE SERVICES ARE HIGHLY RELEVANT TO A TRADITIONAL AND MODERN VIETNAM. THE CENTER'S MISSION IS TO PROMOTE THE APPLICATION OF KNOWLEDGE IN PSYCHOLOGY IN SOLVING HUMAN PROBLEMS AND DEVELOPING THEIR POTENTIALS.

Specific objectives are as follows:

Research: The Center conducts research and development, based on practical demand, on prevention and intervention of mental, educational and work problems for improving the quality of life.

Counseling: The Center provides services on (a) psychological assessment, counseling and treatment to individuals and groups in professional orientation, study, and mental health, and (b) professional consultancy to organizations in mental health, education and human resources.

Training: The Center works with other faculties of the University of Education, VNU to organize training courses, seminars, discussions, etc. for different audience such as teachers, parents, and professionals.

Professional development: CISRP is committed to promoting the development of the profession of psychological experts/psychologists. Our view is that to become psychologists with expert knowledge and practice, students should have opportunities to practice their knowledge in psychology during their studies. Thus, CISRP offers a useful venue for practical training for students, especially those undertaking the master programs in (i) Clinical Psychology for Children and Adolescents, and (ii) Vocational Guidance, which are offered by the University of Education:
